

Caenorhabditis elegans

Caenorhabditis elegans is about one millimetre long helminth from the phylum

Nematoda. It serves as a model organism in genetics and molecular biology, its genome has been completely sequenced.

Links

- ws:Caenorhabditis elegans

External links

- Caenorhabditis Elegans Genome – NCBI – Map Viewer (https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/projects/mapview/map_search.cgi?taxid=6239)
- C. Elegans II – by Donald L. Riddle et al. (<https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/books/NBK19997/>)