Blood groups

Dear Artemis,

thank you for your new article, it looks really good. I have just deleted your signature from it because of that is unnecessary to sign articles. You can find all of changes in a history (http://www.wikilectures.eu/index.php?title=Blood_groups&action=history) – there is also your name as a name of first author. Have a nice week, I wish you nice work with the WikiLectures--  Jakub Žiak 21:48, 12 June 2011 (CEST)

Disorders of the Sex Chromosomes

Thank you for your article Disorders of the Sex Chromosomes, it is very good. I would like to point out, that there are already articles such as Turner syndrome or Klinefelter syndrome. It would be better to use these in your text as inserted articles (f.e. like in Membrane potentials contains inserted article Resting Membrane Potential). In case you don't find the articles above sufficient, you can improve their quality by editing them. If you have any questions, don't hesitate to ask.

Good luck, your work in here is great. ---  Jana Novotná (Editorial Board of WikiLectures) 23:29, 2 September 2011 (CEST)

Hi Jana, thank you very much for the advice. I didn't notice it that there were already some articles about those syndromes. :) ---  Artemis Kyrri 13:48, 3 September 2011 (CEST)

Sources

Dear Artemis, thank you for your contributions. I was looking for good articles and stumbled upon some of yours, I would very much like to use them for a Featured Article some time, however I saw that they lacked sources/references. If you can and have any could you add them? It gives more validity to your articles. Thank you again for your great work. Have a nice weekend --  Hanneke de Boer -- Editorial Board of WikiLectures 14:29, 11 November 2011 (CET)

Dear Hanneke, thank you for your interest. Yes I know, my articles lack sources. It's in my future plans to add some. Have a great week :) ---  Artemis Kyrri 21:18, 20 November 2011 (CEST)

Forgotten Article

Dear Artemis,

I have just found your article The Sex Chromosomes and Sex Determination. The template `{{Under construction}}` is there longer than 30 days. Your article was automatically moved to category Forgotten Article. You can continue with your edits or you can just remove the template (in case, that your article is finished and you just forgot to remove the template), because nobody else can work on this article till the template {{Under construction}} is removed.

Thank you :-)
