

APC resistance

Resistance to activated protein C (APC-R) is caused mutation gene for factor V Leiden the so-called Leiden mutation. It is the most common inherited disorder associated with venous thrombosis.

🔍 For more information see Leiden mutation.

Links

Related articles

- Deep vein thrombosis
- Hemostasis disorders
- Maternal mortality
- Hormonal contraception
- Hemocoagulation