

Aplasia fibulae congenita

Congenital absence of fibula bone can be complete or partial (hypoplasia). It may be associated with the absence of the fourth and fifth rays of the leg. It can be combined with PFFD and congenital tibia.

 For more information see Congenital limb defects.