

Cytocenter

The cytocenter is a small region of cytoplasm adjacent to the nucleus. It contains centrioles, or the organizing center of microtubules, and the Golgi apparatus . On histological preparations, it is visible as such a lighter field, technically an area of perinuclear clarification, usually at the part of the nucleus that is flattened or indented.

Related articles

White blood cells

Bibliography

- LÜLLMANN-RAUCH, Renate. Histologie. 1. edition. Grada, 2012. ISBN 978-80-247-3729-4.
- JUNQUEIRA, L. Carlos – CARNEIRO, José – KELLEY, Robert O.. Základy histologie. 7. edition. Jinočany : H & H, 1997. 502 pp. vol. a LANGE medical book. ISBN 80-85787-37-7.