

Defects of amino acid metabolism

There are many different genetic defects in humans amino acid metabolism.

In the case of many of them, intermediate products accumulate in the body, causing defective development of the nervous system, which often results in mental retardation.