

Euchromatin

Euchromatin is a subtype of chromatin (the basic building material of chromosomes) that is not condensed. Simply put, euchromatin is handled and sections of it can undergo transcription. Condensed chromatin is termed heterochromatin.