

Hypostenuria

As ``hypostenuria we refer to a condition where urine with a low relative density (< 1.020) is excreted. It is caused by the inability of the kidneys to concentrate urine.

See urine density chapter in Urine Examination.

Links

Related Articles

- Hypersthenuria
- Relative density of urine
- Renal function test
- Urine test