

Resorcin-fuchsin

This method is used to dye elastic fibers. The result is a relatively selective coloring of these fibers with a red-violet color. Elastic fibers can be found, for example, in elastic cartilage and elastic ligament (see binders).

Links

Related Articles

- AZAN
- Hematoxylin-eosin staining
- Giemsa staining

