

Talk:Glial Cell

Editorial process

Items for editorial processing • breakdown and headings • wikilinks • grammar and typography

Checked items • sources • categories and portals • synonyms • images and licenses • citation

You can read our help articles or simply ask anyone from the editorial board. We are ready to help you!

Would someone please explain the significance of the very low RMP of glial cells?

The RMP of glial cells is close to the equilibrium potential of potassium. Why is it so negative, what is the importance of it?