Common problems

Hi,

I feel a little stupid writing you in English but it's WikiLectures, so... :-) Anyway, I found your article Help: Common problems. I must say, I'm not really happy that we have this kind of summary in the Czech version and I was thinking, maybe we could do it better here from the start. You see, it's a little confusing for a newbie since the problem he's trying to solve (like renaming an article) is not to be found on the main Help page and it's kinda hidden in this article. So I thought it would be better to make small, short articles about different problems instead of making one big. It also easier to read and not so intimidating.

However, you did a great job, we have to use the print screens more in the Czech version, too.

Ops, I'm late, as I can see, sorry for that. I will try to do my best...from the start.--  Jakub Žiak
